Subscription Rates (including postage and insurance). For libraries, university departments, government laboratories, industrial and other multiple-reader institutions, 1983: U.S. $100.00. Two-year rate (1983/1984): U.S. $190.00.

Specially Reduced Rates to Individuals. In the interests of maximizing the dissemination of the research results published in this important international journal we have established a two-tier price structure. Any individual whose institution takes out a library subscription may purchase a second or additional subscription for personal use at the much reduced rate of U.S. $40.00 per annum.

Subscription price for Members of the International Association of Geochemistry and Cosmochemistry: U.S. $35.00.

Also available at the special subscription price of $35.00 to members of the following organizations:

Geochemical Society
Organic Geochemistry Division of the Geochemical Society
Meteoritical Society
American Association of Organic Geochemists
European Association of Organic Geochemists
American Chemical Society
American Association of Petroleum Geologists

Full details available from the respective organizations.

For membership in the International Association of Geochemistry and Cosmochemistry, please contact Professor G. M. Anderson, Department of Geology, University of Toronto, Toronto, Ontario, Canada M5S 1A1.

Aims and Scope

Organic Geochemistry has been established in response to the need for a specialized medium for the publication of research in this highly interdisciplinary field. At present papers concerned with interrelated fields such as organic chemistry, inorganic chemistry, geology, mineralogy, biogeochemistry, oceanography, hydrology, atmospherics and extraterrestrial subjects are published in many scattered journals. It is intended that Organic Geochemistry serve as a medium for the publication of reports on all phases of geochemistry in which organic substances play a role. Interpretation of this policy will be liberal to permit the broadest possible exchange of ideas. Among others, papers related to crude oils, coals, natural gas and shales and their associated substances will be welcome, as will reports of studies of the roles of organic substances in the geochemical cycles of various elements. Reports of paleontological and coal petrographic studies will be considered favorably if they are geochemically oriented. Letters to the Editor, relevant news and book reviews will be published. Individual issues of Organic Geochemistry may be devoted to papers presented at Symposia.

Information for Contributors

1. All manuscripts and correspondence should be addressed to the Editor-in-Chief, Dr Irving A. Breger, U.S. Geological Survey, 923 National Center, Reston, VA 22092, U.S.A. Manuscripts will be reviewed and considered for publication on the basis of originality of contribution.

2. In consideration of the international character of the journal, manuscripts may be submitted in any of three languages: English, French or German. Each manuscript should be accompanied by an abstract of up to 100 words. Three copies of each manuscript, typed and double-spaced, must be submitted. Only those papers that have not been published elsewhere, wholly or in part, can be considered for publication.

3. Footnotes may be used only on the first page of the manuscript.

4. Figures and tables should be prepared on individual pages and accompanied by legends as follows:

   Fig. 4. Methane and phosphate distribution with depth in Hudson River sediments.

   Table 1. Stable ion isotope composition of the plants, Uca pugnax, and surface soils collected in nine areas of a Georgia salt marsh

   Legends for figures and tables should appear on separate accompanying pages. All figures and tables should be in final form ready for printing. Tables will be reproduced by photo-offset means directly from the author's typed manuscript. Large or long tables should be typed on continuing sheets. Table headings should be typed on separate sheets but identifying numbers should be placed on the upper right-hand corner of each sheet of tabular material. Original typed tables are required. It will be the author's responsibility to prepare his tables in accordance with this procedure as no facilities exist at the Editorial Office for retyping. In case of difficulty please consult the Photoreprographic Unit of your institution.

5. References should appear in the text as (Sommer, 1974) or "as noted by Sommer (1974)".

   All references should be listed alphabetically at the end of the manuscript in the following style:

   Bailey, N. J. L., Krause, H. R., Evans, C. R., and Rogers, M. A., 1973, Alteration of crude oil by waters and bacteria —Evidence from geothermal and isotope studies: Bull. Am. Assoc. Pet. Geol., v. 57, p. 1276–1290.

   Goldschmidt, V. M., 1935, Occurrence of rare elements in coal ashes, in Bangham, D. H., ed., Progress in Coal Science, Vol. 1, Interscience, p. 238–247.

   Hood, D. W., ed., 1971, Impingement of Man on the Oceans, Wiley, pp. 738.

   Names of journals should be abbreviated according to Chemical Abstracts.

6. Reprints may be purchased, if specified on the reprint order form that will accompany proofs.

7. The original manuscript and diagrams will be discarded one month after publication unless the Publisher is requested (on submission of the manuscript) to return original material to the author.
